

THE HERALD

Jimnie Day is clerking for H. F. Pieratt.

Tom Lee is slowly recovering from his recent severe attack of fever.

Lincoln Tea will correct and cure constipation. 25 cents at this office.

J. T. Day left Wednesday for Torrent, Clay City and Jackson on business.

Born to A. P. Clark and wife, of the Tolver neighborhood, on the 8th inst., a girl.

Several parties from Campton came over Saturday to attend the revival services.

John M. Rose is invoicing this week, and Mr. Nickell is being assisted by John Craven.

If you don't see the item on this page that you are looking for, you may find it on some of the other seven.

Campton normal school opened on the 7th inst. instead of opening on the 27th, as erroneously printed in our issue of last week.

Miss Caroline Tutt, of the Spradling neighborhood, slipped and fell a few days since, breaking her arm between the elbow and wrist.

Rev. Nat. Robinson, at one time presiding elder of this district, is in town, and preached a most eloquent sermon at the Methodist church last night.

Owing to the suspension of payment in the state treasury, the school teachers can draw but 10 per cent. of the 20 per cent. due them on Saturday next.

C. L. Byrd, of Campton, and William Chambers, of Stillwater, passed through here yesterday with some nice fat hogs, which they were taking to Grassy creek.

The report came here Tuesday that the boom at the mouth of Blackwater, on the Licking river, had given way and in consequence hundreds of logs were carried into the raging river.

The baby girl of Dr. and Mrs. Taulbee fell from the arms of Miss Lula Strong on Tuesday night last, breaking her right arm and dislocating the wrist. Her father set the broken limb and she is now doing nicely, though suffering much pain.

Call at THE HERALD office and have the editor write you an accident policy. In snowy, slippery weather you might fall and break an arm. In such a case $50 a week would be a nice thing to have about the house to ward the wolf from the door.

The mysterious stranger arrested in this county on Saturday last by George Drake, an account of which appears in our Fincastle correspondence, is held for trial at Lexington. All efforts to identify him have proved futile, and he persistently refuses to divulge his name.

An elegant dinner was spread at the home of J. W. Cravens on Tuesday last to which the following parties were invited: H. F. Pieratt and wife, J. T. Pieratt and wife, Joseph Clarke and wife, F. N. Day, wife and family, W. H. Cord and wife, Miss Laura Rawlings, Mrs. Ellen Kash, W. W. Ringo, Harve Nickell, James S. Day, John B. Davis, John H. Rose.

Large congregations attend the services which are still in progress at the Methodist church, and much interest is being manifested. Rev. Mr. West is an earnest, logical and untiring divine, and Mr. May exhorts sinners in most pleading terms. There is abundant room here for the work that is being carried on, and the prayers of the religious portion of our community are offered up for an outpouring of the holy spirit with a zeal that is commendable. May the good work go on and prosper until the whole town and surrounding country shall have been brought to a knowledge of their condition and be constrained to build their hopes upon things which are not of this world.

Mr. and Mrs. John Evans, of this place, on Friday last gave an elegant dinner to their immediate friends, and the menu was all that the most fastidious taste could have desired. Mrs. Lindsay Ware, Mrs. Ellen Pieratt and Mrs. Lou Day assisted the hostess in receiving. Among the guests who partook of the feast were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cord, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Pieratt, Mr. and Mrs. F. McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Rose, Messrs. Charley Andre, Harve Nickell and Curtis Pieratt, and the editor of THE HERALD and his better half. In the evening the young people of the town were invited in, and after a few plays, in which the older ones took part as well, ice cream and cake was indulged in to the delight of all.

Uncle Elias K. Ratliffe, the oldest man in the county, or in the state, perhaps, departed this life on Monday morning at about 6 o'clock. Mr. Ratliffe was a native of Virginia, a soldier in the war of 1812, and many years ago moved into this part of Kentucky, which was then but little more than a vast wilderness. For years he had been too feeble to perform manual labor, and having no other means he was a charge on the county. His application was on file for a pension for services rendered, his country in the hour of her peril, but through lack of political influence, negligence, or some other cause, none was ever granted him, else his declining years might have been nourished with the necessities of life, at least. At the time of his death he lacked but two days of being one hundred and two years and six months of age, having been born on July 9th, 1792. His remains were laid to rest Tuesday in what is known as the Holderby burying ground, a few miles below Hazel Green, on Red river, now the property of F. McGuire, of this place.

STATE NEWS.

—The new court of appeals was organized Monday.

—Since 1890 the gross receipts of the Owensboro postoffice have increased from $10,000 a year to $16,000.

—The workhouse at Bowling Green was totally destroyed by fire one day last week, entailing a loss of $5,000.

—Charles J. Trauter, a prominent business man of Covington, dropped dead in Chicago last Monday from apoplexy.

—The Bardwell Star states that not a town lot or an acre of land in Carlisle county has been sold for taxes in seven years.

—A burglar entered the back door of W. J. Seetow, at Frankfort, and stole 12 watches and some money, aggregating in value about $200.

—Charley Metcalfe, who lives at Brooksville, in Bracken county, shot his older brother Friday afternoon. The boy will recover.

—The Eastern Kentucky Republican, published at Grayson, threatens to suspend unless the Republicans of the county make good their promises of aid.

—Caseville precinct, Union county, voted out whiskey not a great while ago, but a petition will be presented asking that the question be again submitted at the polls.

—In an encounter near Newport Samuel Swims attempted to kill James Fields, a successful rival in love, fatally wounding Fields' bride and her mother, Mrs. Mary Cooper.

—J. R. Lemon, formerly editor of the Benton Tribune, has engaged in the wholesale hat business at Paducah. J. V. Wear has purchased the Tribune, and will continue the publication of the paper.

—The bureau of information and immigration and the commercial club at Bowling Green have perfected arrangements for the publication of a monthly land bulletin in the interest of immigration.

—Monticello, the capital of Wayne county, wants an electric railroad from that city to Burnside, on the Cincinnati Southern, and a meeting of those interested in the proposed line will be held January 19.

—At the Versailles pike crossing, in the suburbs of Lexington, on Monday Robert Hyatt, a young man of twenty, fell under a Southern railroad train, which cut off both his legs. His recovery is doubtful.

—Jeff Lucas, who was disemboweled by Joe Newton, in a cutting affray at Frankfort on Saturday night, died early Monday morning. Just before death he requested that Newton should not be prosecuted as he was himself the aggressor.

—The first Indian corn grown in Kentucky is said to have been planted on a tract of ground about three miles from Harrodsburg in 1774. The same field that produced the first corn in the state 120 years ago yielded fifty bushels to the acre of the same cereal last year.

—James Chandler, of Lyon county, is 79 years old, and has 47 grandchildren and 38 great-grandchildren. He lives within three miles of the farm on which his grandfather settled 109 years ago, and has never been away from home more than ten days at a time in his life.

Will Wright, James Cosby and Sylvester and Seymour Jordan became involved in a difficult at Salvia Saturday evening. Wright cut Seymour Jordan's throat from ear to ear with a knife, from the effects of which he will die, and shot Sylvester Jordan in the shoulder. Jim Cosby snapped his pistol at the Jordans, but it failed to respond and he retreated.

—The Franklin county fiscal court, which met last Saturday to take action in the matter of free turnpikes in that county, succeeded in making only one road free, the Louisville and Crab Orchard turnpike, which is only about three miles in length. The stockholders of the various roads and the court could not agree on the terms for any other road. Several counties are agitating the question of free turnpikes with better prospects of success.

Attention, Deputy Clerks.

My deputy clerks are hereby notified that they cannot act as my deputies since the 7th of January, 1895, unless they are reappointed. And in the future, under the law, I cannot and will not permit any deputy to issue marriage license.

J. B. HOLLON, C. C. W. C.

Special Notice.

Do you owe me anything? If you it is for goods you promised to pay me for by the first day of January, 1895. And remember, if I had bought your cattle and had not paid you for them, you would be after me before Saturday night. So do it to me as you would have me do unto you, and that is pay me what you owe me, and do it now, and very much oblige your friend, JOHN M. ROSE.

ACADEMY NOTES.

ACADEMITE.

KENTUCKIANS ENDORSE Electropoise

"I make the prediction that it will take its place as the world's greatest discovery, as it is capable of doing more good for humanity than any other."—James C. Clarke, Esq., Morehead, Ky.

"My wife says she has received great benefit from the use of the Electropoise I bought of you some weeks since, and feels sure it will cure her of a long standing case of rheumatism. Money could not buy it from her."—C. W. Wright, Louisville, Ky.

"All the money in Kentucky could not buy my Electropoise. It cured my wife of tumor after the best physicians had pronounced her incurable."—Michael Condran, Frankfort, Ky.

Mr. J. M. Myers, of Myers & Bonn, 236 West Main street, Louisville, says he has no reason to change the opinion expressed about Electropoise three years ago. It cured him of rheumatism.

"One night's use of the Electropoise gave me relief from brain congestion and vertigo. I have been a well man ever since."—Rev. George H. Means, Covington, Ky.

Electropoise put out on trial for four months for $10. Send for particulars. DU BOIS & WEBB, 300 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, Ky.
